

Shoppers Guide for Berry Plants in the Mid-Atlantic and the Carolinas

Authored by Christle Moore and Sophia Gonzales, Research Intern, Hampton Roads Agricultural Research and Extension Center and Jayesh Samtani, Assistant Professor and Small Fruit Extension Specialist, Hampton Roads Agricultural Research and Extension Center, School of Plant and Environmental Sciences

Introduction

This article is intended to serve as a resource for new and experienced Mid and South-Atlantic small fruit growers, home gardeners, and educators to locate and procure quality berry plants and to identify nurseries that may carry specific varieties of interest. All the information included in the article was identified through the websites of the respective nurseries or from communications with the nursery representatives. Although it has been our attempt to capture all available providers, this list may not be an all-inclusive list. We also do not endorse any of these listed nurseries. Please note that the varieties included in the charts are based upon those provided by the nurseries in 2022 and are subject to slight changes in the following years.

List of Nurseries

 Aaron's Creek Farms – 380 Greenhouse Dr., Buffalo Junction, VA 24529

Phone: (434) 374-2174 Website: www.acfplugs.com CALL THEM

Aarons Creek Farms is a wholesale nursery that provides strawberry plants as plugs. They have their own delivery routes within 150 miles of them that guarantee one-week shipping and usually within 48 hours. However, they do ship all over the country using FedEx. They have 4 main varieties they grow and sometimes rotate in new options depending on availability. Their four regular varieties are Chandler, Sweet Charlie, Festival and Camarosa, others include Merced, Camino Real and Ruby June.
